

The five year old son of P. Lunde met with a bad accident last Thursday by falling head first into a ten foot deep cistern, receiving some very ugly cuts on each side of the head and getting its body badly bruised. Dr. Westley was called and fixed up the little sufferer who is reported getting along nicely. The cistern was being repaired and was empty and the little fellow came along and fell into it before he was noticed near the cistern. It was a close call for him all right.
