

Ole Halvorson received a telegram from Crookston, Minn., Monday, conveying the sad news of the death of Mrs. O. K. Quamme. The dispatch did not state when she died but it is presumed that her death occurred either Sunday or Monday. We have learned no particulars of her illness or cause of death. Mrs. Quamme has been in poor health for some time we believe. Her husband was killed about a year ago by being kicked by a horse in the head. The many friends of the family at Cooperstown deeply sympathize with the children over their loss. The funeral took place at Crookston Wednesday of this week.
