

Every time John Hegberg comes to town he is smiling over some happy event that has taken place at his home. Last Wednesday, he was running around town with his face expanded to twice its usual size, and the cause of it all was the arrival of a bouncing boy at his home on the 19th inst. Mother and son are doing nicely, and John is doing exceptionally fine.