

DEATH CLAIMS ANOTHER

The sad news of the death of Mrs. A. H. Adrian was received here on Monday, she having passed away at about nine o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Deceased had suffered for some time from cancer of the stomach, and had been treated at hospitals and had recently undergone an operation but all to no avail, and she was brought home to die, there being no cure for her terrible affliction.

Moving upon the farm with her husband and family when the country was new, she has seen more or less of the life of the early pioneer, and being of an ambitious disposition with the highest regard for her family as well as for the moral development of her family, she has labored hard to help to get the home established that at last she might reap the reward of her labors in enjoying the pleasant surroundings of her home with her beloved family. But God in His infinite wisdom had directed otherwise, and the reward for having lived a useful life awaited her in the land of everlasting Love and sunshine where no trouble ever comes. Let us all rejoice that the loved one is enjoying richer blessings in Heaven than were ever bestowed upon those who remain upon earth to fight the mighty battles of life. Instead of mourning the departure of the cherished one let the bereaved relatives find consolation in the fact that her life was such that she has been richly rewarded in eternity.

The funeral was conducted from West Prairie Church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the remains laid at rest in the cemetery adjoining. The sympathy of the whole community is extended the sorrowing relatives in this time of sorrow and bereavement.
