E. C. Amadon, who has suffered untold misery from inflammatory rheumatism during the past two weeks has recovered sufficiently to go away for treatment. He left here on Monday to go to Fargo where he will be treated until he regains strength sufficient to enable him to stand the journey to Hunter's Hot Springs, Montana, or some other health resort in the west, where he will remain until he gets the disease entirely out of his system. His many friends here sincerely hope he will find relief somewhere in the near future, and that he will find a permanent cure.
