

A postoffice is about to be established at Peter Bolkan's residence in Nelson County, to be known as Bolkan P. O., and Peter will become one of Uncle Sam's servants. A petition will also be forwarded to the Department, praying that a mail route be established from Binford to the new postoffice and to Ottoly and Deehr. The mail now reaches the patrons of these offices by such a round about route, that their mail is a week or more old before they get it. By that process, the world would come to an end at least a week before these good people would hear of it thru the Binford Times and other papers that have been designated to tell how it happened and describe the grand display of fire-works in the evening.
