

Ole O. Brodshaug has been complaining of a disarranged physique during the past few days, but a few doses of medicine have taken possession and restored order to such a degree that Ole is feeling much better. It is believed that he brought on the trouble by shaving off his mustache.