

"Shurty" Knudsen returned yesterday from the Wisconsin lumber woods. While there, he says, they got three feet of snow, which put him eighteen inches below the surface—and that chased him back to sunny Dakota.