

MORE CHARIVARI

This Time at McHenry. An Accident Reported.

A report came from McHenry Monday to the effect that a Mrs. Reiley, proprietress of the Commercial hotel at that place, had recently married (we have not learned the name of the bridegroom) and on Saturday night last, a charivari party was organized for the purpose of bringing out the newly married couple. It seems that the crowd wanted beer with which to celebrate the occasion, and upon being refused the beer and being told that booze would not be furnished for anybody, the gang began to wreak vengeance upon the house, and a free-for-all was the result.

A shot was fired from the hotel, but at this writing it is not known who fired it, but it took effect on one Clarence Lohman, he having his eye put out by the shot. On Monday the injured man was taken to a hospital for treatment.
