

The Schindele boys are adding a nice two-story front to their harness shop, the old part having been moved back to be used as a repair shop—and to keep Joe in—with his quick-repair outfit. The building will now present a more striking appearance besides furnishing the boys ample room for carrying on their extensive harness business.

---