

Mrs. Carrie Thune had the misfortune to break her right leg Monday morning, and it happened in a most unusual manner. It is reported that she was standing upon a box and endeavoring to repair a door, when the heavy wind blowing at the time blew the door against her with such force as to throw her from the box, she falling heavily upon her leg and breaking it above the ankle. At last reports she was getting along nicely.