

Martin Burke, the man who had his skull fractured in a mysterious way about a month ago, passed to the Great Beyond last Friday at Tolna. Two theories are advanced as to the cause of his injuries; One is that that his horse ran away and threw him from the buggy, while others believe that he was way-layed by someone who had a grievance and adopted that method of revenge. The fact of the matter is no one up to the present time no one has been able to solve the mystery. It is reported that detectives have been silently, but vigorously working on the case.
