

Lewis and Andrew Berg were up from the county seat Monday. The former has practically recovered from his accident of two weeks ago, though his face is still disfigured somewhat. For a time the doctors feared that he wouldn't pull through. Had he been a man of a weaker physique or had the blow hit him a trifle higher it probably would have killed him. As it is he feels none the worse over his experience.