

Although Binford is not making any pretensions of having anything very elaborate here in the way of a celebration on the 17th of May, sufficient arrangements have been made so the day wont pass by without some kind of an observance. A ball game has been scheduled between the Pekin team and the local boys. This is the first game for either team, and, although our boys still have some "kinks" to work out, they are banking on a victory. The band will, in all probability, be out. Bills for a dance in the opera house in the evening will be out this week.
