

The 'old time dance' Friday evening was quite a successful affair. The attendance was not as large as it might have been. The bad condition of the roads prevented many of the country people from attending, but never-the-less the crowd was large enough that everybody was pleased with the event, and hope that they may have the pleasure of attending another old time dance in the near future.