

The hoisting engine for the well digging crew arrived on Thursday evening, and was unloaded Friday. Work will be pushed in the railroad yards, as the company is anxious to have everything completed by the time the rush work commences.