

The thaw of the past two weeks has brought forcibly to mind the pressing need of a side walk to the school house. The teachers and children have waded in mud and water and it has been a question of swim or sink. The need of a sidewalk is so important and of such great value that steps should be taken at once.

In order to get considerable