

City for a day.

Last week we intended to make mention of a large cocoanut which August Evers received from a brother in South America, but in some unknown manner our cocoanut became confused with the one August received, with the result that the item was omitted. He has planted it and expects to be able to show his friends something out of the ordinary in the line of tall timber in a few years.