

With this issue of the Times we venture on the sea of journalism. It will be our constant aim to give the people a newsy paper and we hope that they will cooperate with us in our attempt to make it such, by giving us any item of news which they may know. We also hope to see all of the business places of Binford represented in the columns of the Times, and at any time our business increases sufficiently to warrant an enlargement of the paper we will gladly do so. The columns of this paper will be open at all times to people who wish to discuss the important issues of the day, provided however that their name is signed in full to the article which they hand in for publication. E. W. Sperry has decided to remain with us for sometime, and he will endeavor to please our patrons to the best of his ability. Hoping that our business relations may be pleasant, I beg to remain

Yours Respectfully,
O. S. Gunderson, Editor.
