

A. M. Hemerline has been hauling out poles for a telephone system to connect with the rural line north of town. Mr. Hemerline will then have communication with the outside world.