

New England Herald: S. H. Koloen, who lives 7 miles south of town, has been marketing some of his wheat in New England the past week. His crops this year were good and he is right up in the list of happy farmers. His 1100 bushels of wheat averaged 23 bushels to the acre, 150 bushels of flax went 14 bushels and 3200 bushels of oats averaged better than 50 bushels to the acre.
