

Ole Larson, who is now the proprietor of the Sloulin restaurant comes well recommended, having been land lord of the Hannaford hotel for sometime, and is well acquainted with the needs of the people in giving them the best there is in the way of something to eat. Give him a trial when in town.