

Hammer-Rood company occupy a good size space in today's issue. The enterprising firm are good believers in printer's ink and this week they offer the Maxwell auto as a leader and many other right-in-season articles. It will pay anyone to look up their ad and take heed of what they say.

H. J. Maurer departed last Saturday for Sedgewick, Alta, Canada, and will spend the summer and perhaps the fall in King Ed's domain. If he and his son, John, who has been tilling the soil there for some time, don't take a fancy to Ed and his country they will sell out return to Binford. Harold Davidson accompanied Mr. Maurer to Sedgewick.

Carrie Nation appeared at two or three Chautauquas last summer. At one of the Iowa assemblies she stopped an Irishman on the grounds who was smoking. "You dirty dog," she stormed. "Why don't you throw that pipe away? If you were my husband and smoked that dirty thing, I'd give you poison!" "Shure," said Pat quietly. "If you were my woife oid take it."

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown departed this week for Cooperstown where Mr. Brown will make his headquarters hereafter. A deal was made last week whereby he is to be the lineman for the Griggs County Telephone company and it was decided best for him to move so as to be more centrally located. He will make frequent trips to Binford, however. Binford people will regret the departure of Mr. Brown and his estimable wife.

H. G. Scanson was in Binford Tuesday from Pekin and informed the Times man that he and Mr. Walhood had disposed of their interests in the Pekin Mercantile company to Ole Forde and Thomas Lonson. The retiring firm have been enjoying a good business and there is no question but what it will continue under the new management. Mr. Scanson is undecided as to his future pursuits but will remain in Pekin, for the present, at least. The town is handicapped to some extent by not having a newspaper but the commercial club is making strenuous efforts to induce some enterprising young man to start up.
