

reached the corner of Nels Kloster's fence and fell, his left leg being burned so badly he was unable to stand. It was at this time that he was found by the Nelson and Broberg boys. Joe Stewart came out of the Gunderson barn from milking and he poured the pail of milk over him. With the aid of coats the fire was extinguished and the boy was helped home by friendly hands, and everything that it was possible to do to relieve the suffering was done.

The above story is correct and can be relied upon, as it was received from the ones most concerned.

Kenneth was taken to the St. John's hospital Monday afternoon, accompanied by his father and sister, Ina. The latter will remain with him until he is well. He is under the very best of care and is doing as well as can be expected.

The Fargo Daily News for Thursday contained an exaggerated account of the story related above. Mr. McKenzie says to contradict it, as he positively does not believe he has an enemy in Aneta, not even among the has-been blind piggers. We do not know of any blind piggers in Aneta now. In short, he doesn't believe that any one in Aneta is guilty of having done the deed. One thing to be remembered is that Kenneth is not as badly burned as the News has it. His face and his arms down to the chest are not burned at all, nor his feet. The doctors think he has a fine chance for recovery and he was better this morning.

Dr. Bennett states: "At the time Kenneth told his story, he was in full possession of his faculties and perfectly free from the influence of opiates or narcotics of any kind."

Those who heard him and are in best position to know, do not deny the truth of the boy's statements.
