

Henry Paulsrud departed on Saturday's train for his home at New England, this state, after a two weeks' pleasant visit with friends and relatives. Henry is well pleased with his new home in the western part of the state and he predicts for it a prosperous future.

---