

Harry Healy and C. E. Peterson being about to leave Red Lake Falls, their friends decided that there ought to be some "doings" in their honor. Accordingly last night tables were arranged about the gymnasium room in the Boughton building and a bunch of jolly fellows enjoyed themselves at cards. At 11 o'clock an elaborate supper was served by Chef Arnold of the Sanford cafe, and toasts were given, good stories told and general regret expressed at the leave taking of the guests of honor.

C. E. Peterson, foreman and official jollier of The Gazette, has resigned and will soon leave for Binford, N. Dak., to take charge of the Binford Times. Mr. Peterson is an excellent printer and has made himself almost indispensable to this shop. It will be hard to fill his shoes and hold down his case and it was with regret that the information of his decision to leave was received. "Pete" has a "raft" of friends in town who, with The Gazette, will wish him the success that all believe will be his. Mr. Peterson says that he does not like to leave Red Lake Falls and The Gazette, but that he has an opportunity that he feels he must accept.
