

A coffee urn at Sloulins went on the rampage last Saturday, with result that C. J., was quite badly singed, and on Monday morning it went through a few preliminaries, after which it let drive, taking Carl Peterson right between the eyes. He recovered immediately, but didn't say anything.