

Ben Raaen was in town on Monday and was crippled up to such an extent that he couldn't walk without the aid of a walking-stick. Mr. Raaen attended the Giratias auction sale last week and bought a couple of young colts and on arriving home put the colts in a stall adjoining some of his own colts. The animals were fighting and Ben stepped in to part them when one of them kicked him in the thigh sustaining a bad bruise.
