

Horse thieves are said to have been attempting a raid at Ed Rhodes' last Wednesday night. The dog was heard making quite a fuss in the direction of the barn, and on making investigation a prowler was discovered. A team was standing in the road and on seeing that their movements had become known, the parties made a hurry get-away.