

P. K. Rogne, who stays with his son, Oscar, at Jessie, met with a very painful accident the fore part of the week. He fell down the stairs and cut a deep gash in his head and for a time it look dangerous, but is getting along fine now. The old gentleman is well along in years and it is a wonder that he withstood the experience as well as he did.