

The storm Tuesday played havoc with buildings and other property. E. C. Amadon's house was struck by lightning and damaged to a great extent. The lightning struck the east wing and tore it completely to pieces. Luckily, no people were in that part of the house at the time. Mr. Amadon and some carpenters were in the bed rooms in another part of the house and were uninjured but flying pieces of plaster and splinters struck them. Erick Watne lost a horse, Knute Olson a colt, and John Vangen's barn was struck but no great damage was done to it.
