is made of the stuff that succeeds. e Tolna Tribune: On Sunday morning, Dec. 31st, John Moran, 1 a farmer near Hamar, N. D., had a most horrible expe ience when calling at the home of his neigh-V bor, Joe Peterson, he found the door wide open and the sister, t Miss Christina Peterson, lying t over the threshold apparently t dead and Mr. Peterson in bed and unconscious Mr. Moran immediately called help and everything possible was done for the young people. On Tuesday they were t ken to Fargo, but nothing could be done to save them. Mr. Peterson died immediatly after being taken from the train and the sister remained in an unconscious, condition until the following Tueslay, when she died. No definate cause has beenobtained as neither regained consciousness, but it is thought that they had been overcome by gas from the stove, the girl however being able to get tothe door and open it but was able to go no farther. With the door open and the thermometer at thirty below, death was almost certain. At the present writing no relatives of the unfortunate people have been found, bodies are held in the
