

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WEDDED

The O. K. Krogfoss Home Scene of Pretty Wedding Yesterday.

Promptly at eleven o'clock Wednesday forenoon occurred the marriage ceremony, joining together in holy wedlock Miss Laura Josephine Krogfoss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Krogfoss, and Mr. Arthur Cyrus Idsvoog, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Idsvoog, both of this village.

The ceremony was very impressively rendered by Rev. T. E. Sweger, of Cooperstown, and was conducted according to the Norwegian ritual. At twelve o'clock, the bridal party and the respective relatives of the bride and groom partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast, served in the dining room, over which Mrs. F. C. Boeckman presided. The color scheme was carried out in pink and yellow roses.

The bride was charmingly attired in a light blue satin de luxe, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. She was attended by Miss Alma Bruns, who wore a white gown and carried pink roses. The groom and his attendant, Mr. Elmer Krogfoss, were dressed in the conventional black, and wore buttonhole bouquets of roses.

The bride has grown to womanhood in Binford, and is a young lady of refined nature and has many charms. She has been a devoted home worker, and will grace her new environments with love and cheer. Her friends are numbered by her acquaintances, among whom she is held in highest esteem.

The groom has spent all of his life in Griggs county, and has been a resident of Binford for the past eight years. He is a young man of sterling qualities and exemplary habits, his cheerfulness having won for him many admiring friends. By his integrity and faithful performance of his duties he has won the confidence of his employers, and is now holding the responsible position of assistant cashier of the First State bank.

The happy twain left on yesterday's passenger on their honeymoon to California and will visit many interesting points enroute. They expect to be absent about two months, after which they will return to set up housekeeping in Binford, and will be at home to their friends after May first.

Those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Krogfoss, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Idsvoog, Rev. T. E. Sweger, Mrs. F. C. Boeckman, Miss Ora Lowe, Miss Alma Bruns, and Messrs. Oscar Idsvoog and Elmer Krogfoss.

The Times joins with the whole community in extending hearty congratulations, and wishes for them a happy and prosperous journey along life's pathway.
