

The Times has been informed that John Ahlquist, formerly a resident of western Griggs county, but who now lives at Sydney, Montana, is confined in a hospital at Glendive, where one leg was amputated at the knee. Tuberculosis of the bone is said to have been the affliction.