

At the meeting of the band members last Saturday evening, Manager Arneson gave the boys a straight-from-the-shoulder talk in regards to their irregular attendance and tardiness at the meetings, and, we believe, it will tend to revive the interest among the members, and it should. The boys have the backing of the village, and unless we prove to them that we are willing to give value in return, their support is going to be withdrawn, so it behooves us to buckle in, and, if necessary, forego some of our other engagements. Let's do this, and give Binford a boost and place her where she rightfully belongs—ahead of the procession.
