

was well worth the money.

A party of ladies met at the home of Mrs. Aug. Evers, last Friday evening, and perfected the organization of a literary society. It is to be called the Bin Road-a-Lit circle. The officers elected are: Mrs. W. E. West, president; Mrs. Aug. Evers, vice president; Miss Caroline Hagberg, secretary; Miss Zella Metcalf, treasurer. The critics are: Miss Mildred Pomeroy, Miss Zella Metcalf and F. G. Lewis. Those mentioned, with Miss Marie Herlick and Laura Krogfoss are charter members. Although the initiative has been taken by the ladies, that does not mean that they intend to exclude the sterner sex, but, on the contrary, they invite them to become members and attend the meetings regularly. An organization of this character is of untold benefit and its value can hardly be estimated, and those responsible for its inception in Binford are to be commended. Meetings will be held every Friday evening. Tomorrow evening they will meet with Mrs. W. E. West. You are cordially invited to attend and become a member.
