

day, at 1 p. m.

The Commercial club held a very enthusiastic session last evening and several matters of importance came up for discussion. The proposition of holding a market day some time after seeding is finished seemed to meet with popular approval and a committee composed of Herman Osen, Steve Rorvig and C. E. Peterson were appointed to interview the business concerns to get their opinions on the matter and report at the next meeting. The Times is positive that a market day can be made a success in Binford if all are willing to take hold and do their part. It is concerted and concentrated action that will count. The co-operation of all is essential, and unless we can get it there is little use to attempt anything for the advancement of the town and betterment of conditions. In the question of a market day, are you going to be a lag-behind? Another topic, which may develop into some importance, was the question of communicating with the Northern Pacific, asking their co-operation in advertising the vacant land along the branch, in an effort to induce settlers to locate here. The matter of stocking our lakes with more fish was also taken up and the secretary was instructed to correspond with the proper authorities with a view of ascertaining how many and what species can be secured. All in all, the session last evening was one of the most interesting we have attended. Five new members were added to the roll, and more will be added by next meeting. Let everyone become a member and take an active part, and then the Binford Commercial club will be able to accomplish something.
