A news item in the Fargo Forum last Saturday states that there is to be a change of schedule on this branch, and that instead of a small passenger being run up the line in the morning and back in the afternoon, one train will leave Sanborn in the morning arriving at McHenry in the afternoon, and another will leave McHenry in the morning reaching Sanborn in time to connect with No. 4. This would enable passengers from this branch to reach Fargo before 4 p. m. and the twin cities early in the evening.
