

esons, where she teaches school, and the latter from Minneapolis. Miss Cla a will remain home for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ebentier and Mrs. John Urban left yesterday for Mayville, Wisconsin, called there by the death of Mrs. Tressie Sohrafnoegel, a sister of the two ladies. Death occurred last Monday.

An 8 room house and three city lots for sale, on Main street in Binford, in a fine neighborhood, $\frac{1}{2}$ down, balance on your own time and terms, at six per cent. interest. Price very reasonable. Address owner: Rev. R. J. Kellogg, McHenry, N. D., or C. J. Patterson, elevator man, Binford, N. D.

F. G. Lewis went to Jessie this morning to get a few subscriptions for the Minneapolis Daily News. He is in a subscription-getting contest conducted by that publication, and is well up among the top ones. The prize is a $1000 Maxwell auto, and Fred feels quite confident of winning it, but if he doesn't, he says, the others will have to go some. If his gift of gab and popularity count for anything Fred will be sporting a new auto in Binford next summer.

Mrs. Louis Guesinger and Mrs. Hermon Thrift had an experience with a runaway team on Tuesday, that they don't care to have repeated again very soon. They were on their way to the home of Frank Kingsley to spend the day and when nearing that place the horses became frightened so the ladies couldn't control them. In jumping from the buggy they were badly shaking up and received several minor bruises. The horses ran into a telephone post, breaking it in two.

The Christmas tree entertainments given in the opera house on Thursday evening and in the Norwegian church on Monday evening, were very well attended and the programs in each were well prepared and the children showed great tact in rendering their parts. Rev. Jensen was presented with a handsome rocking chair from the congregation and F. G. Lewis was present with a like gift from the ladies aid society.
