

Some light-fingered person has been "tapping the till" at the Opera Club Room on three different occasions recently, and the aggregate amount is something like $20. It is working on Mr. Boeckman's nerves and if the culprit is caught, he will make it hard for him. We had no idea that Binford was harboring any such person, and if nabbed he will have sufficient reason to regret his depredations.