Harold Brown returned last week from a trip into Canada. He filed on a half section of land at Swift Current and expects to move onto the same next spring. He went up to Calgary and visited with Frank Retzlaff and And. Goff, both of whom are well and happy on account of the good feed their wives are handing out to them. Harold thinks Calgary is a fine city and says things are booming there. He says that gasoline is 40c a gallon over there so that a poor man has no business with an automobile. Kerosene is 35c a gallon, but a person can economize on that by going to bed at sundown and getting up in the morning after the sun is up.—Courier.
