

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Buchheit returned Monday from an extended trip in the east and south. They were gone about two months and had a very enjoyable time. They visited many of the historic spots in Virginia and were greatly impressed with what they saw and heard. They were in Washington and witnessed the inauguration of President Wilson, and they had an excellent view of the parade. The Buchheits had a glimpse of both houses of congress in session, and were present when Senator LaFollette delivered his speech for physical valuation of railroads. Mr. Buchheit had the pleasure of meeting Senator Gronna and Congressman Helgeson, and he also had a pleasant visit with one of his boyhood chums, Senator Shively of Indiana. Mr. Buchheit and wife spent a few days in Philadelphia, and at the old home in Indiana, and in the twin cities before returning home.
