

F. D. Cannon has had the millinery store building re-arranged and will open a photograph gallery soon. A large side light has been put in, dark room added, and other improvements made. To start with, Mr. Cannon will confine his work mostly to post cards, and later follow up with the real thing in portraits. Fred's friends have urged him to do this for some time, and now that he has started, we bespeak for him success.

The little son of Mr. Cannon is
