

Nathan Crandell, son of Salem Crandell, a young man about 21 years of age, became insane Tuesday evening and Marshal Reid found it necessary to place him under restraint. He was taken to the county seat by C. Grannis and W. E. Gray Wednesday morning, and by order of the county board of insanity was taken to the state hospital at Jamestown. His chief hallucination seemed to be that he must get money from the bank. He went to the home of Cashier Malm during his absence and forced an entrance through the back door, giving Mrs. Malm quite a fright. Later he tried to break the plate glass of the bank door with his fist, failing which he butted it in with his head, miraculously escaping without a scratch.—Sanborn Enterprise.
