A party of gentlemen, composed of Mr. Fish, curator of the state historical society, Bismarck, Mr. Steinbach of Jamestown, Mr. Rube of Kensal and Dana Wright, sheriff of Stutsman county, camped Monday at old Fort Atchison, south of town. The party are on a tour investigating the old Sibley trail. This is the trail followed by General Sibley when he made his famous campaign against the Indians in 1863. The old fortification south of here shows plainly and it is one of the historic spots of North Dakota.
