

hours.

On a charge preferred by C. F. Heinson, Mrs. Pat O'Shea was brought before Justice Larson last Friday evening on a charge of stealing a watch chain from the plaintiff. The accused stated that she had received the chain from her husband but the story did not hold. She was compelled to return the chain to the owner, and the cost of the trial was assessed against her, amounting to a little over six dollars, which she paid. The next day she left town.

But O'Shea was a transient who