

Dazey Commercial: While working at the Osborne feed mill A. H. Hicks got his hand caught in the rollers of the machine and badly mangled it. The first two fingers of the right hand were crushed completely off and the bones were broken in the other two fingers and the thumb was badly mashed. Mr. Hicks was grinding some feed at the time of the accident and as a new set of rollers had just been put in the machine was not working exactly right. Mr. Hicks took a stick and attempted to clear the grain out of the way so that he could see what was the matter with the machine. In some way the stick slipped and his fingers also were caught between the rollers. Mr. Hicks was taken to his home and medical assistance was at once summoned. It was found that two of the fingers had to be taken off up to the palm of the hand as they were so badly crushed. Mr. Hicks went to Jamestown for further treatment and his friends here hope that no more serious complications set in and that he will speedily recover.
