

---

Herman Hovel and son were up from their farm near Jessie Monday. Mr. Hovel came up to see Dr. Truscott about a molar that had given him a lot of trouble, and to be sure that the trouble is at an end, he now carries the trouble-maker around in his pocket. Mr. Hovel's son is also afflicted with the skin disease that is caused from the dye in fur collars, and received treatment for that while here.

W. C. Estabrook, Coe