

Mrs. Henry Hull, who resides on the Buchheit farm, north of town, suffered a severe paralytic stroke yesterday while on her way home from town. She was about half way home when she was seized with the attack, and it came on so hard that she was unable to remain in the buggy. The horses went on home alone. Fearing that his wife had met with an accident when the horses came home without her, Mr. Hull drove back towards town and found her by the roadside in an utterly helpless condition. Dr. Truscott was called but it is feared that medical aid will prove of no avail.

The editor had the pleasure of