

Two important business transfers have been made during the past few days that will be interesting news to Times readers. By the transfers Willie Tweed becomes the owner of the auto garage, owned by Ed Johnson, and O. O. Brodshaug comes in possession of Mr. Tweed's carpenter shop. Mr. Tweed has decided to retire from the carpenter business and devote his entire attention to auto repairing and livery. Mr. Tweed is a genius in the mechanical line, and while he has not had a great amount of experience with automobiles, his natural ability and what he will learn from Mr. Johnson, who has agreed to remain with him until he masters the finer points, there is no question but what he will make a big success of his new business venture. With the retirement of Mr. Tweed from the carpenter business, it leaves that line to Mr. Brodshaug and Andrew Norstrum. Mr. Brodshaug now a first class workshop and as a business man and carpenter, he really needs no introduction from The Times.
